

So we have a Computer that could be either a laptop or a desktop. They could be uniquely identified by their Serial Number. Both come with accessories that are - but not limited to- monitor (has a screen size) , a keyboard and a mouse (has a sensitivity measure). They also come with installed OS software that supports their memory,vid and sound cards.